ANIMAL WELFARE POLICY

Updated February 2023

FARMERS

Help and fund farmers to protect their livestock and provide incentives for animal farmers to rewild land.

STOP CRUELTY

1. Cruelty-free cosmetics.
2. Stop Animal testing.
3. End the use of animals in the entertainment industry.
4. Ban the export of live livestock.
5. Pest control-PPNZ believes more humane methods should be used to protect our native species from predators.
6. Ban lethal population control of animals and use alternative methods to control.
7. Ban 1080 poison.

MARINE LIFE

1. Marine life like fish and marine animals can feel pain, joy, and suffering.
2. Strict monitoring for commercial fishing (millions of marine animals are caught and killed in commercial fishing).
3. Protect whales, dolphins. Commercial whale hunting is banned and dolphin killing is banned, but several thousand are still killed worldwide.
4. Governments should enforce the whaling ban and act against countries such as Japan that violate the ban. However, that does not happen. Government leaders leave the enforcement of international agreements for the protection of the whale to a civil society organization and its volunteers. Government leaders should at least offer protection to whale protectors who do what governments fail to do.
